Fleming developed the Catholic Church of the Incarnation's master plan in 2006, which identified several phases of construction for the church and school. Fleming worked with the church and school to carefully phase the projects to meet budgets and minimize disruption. Phase one included a new 32,827 SF, $6.9 million worship facility. This project consisted of a sanctuary addition and renovation of existing spaces. A new 23,964 SF $2.5 million educational facility was built as phase two in 2007.
